WE NOMINATE

Gardner Patterson, 43-year old authority on international economics, who on the threshold of his second decade as a Princetonian is gaining ever-increasing, and merited, recognition as an educator with a profound understanding of the importance of encouraging non-discriminatory world trade. It is a tribute to the Iowa-born Patterson, now in his second year as Director of Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public Affairs, that his critical views on Washington's growing tendency to "wall off" the rest of the world (in the economic sense) were accorded top editorial billing in this past Sunday's issue of The New York Times.

A former director of the University's International Finance Section, the post he was called here to fill in 1949 some years after the death of Edwin W. Kemmerer, internationally known consultant in money and banking, Patterson belongs to the generation of teacher-scholars whose interests and achievements are balanced between teaching and the public service. Twice in the past five years, on leave from his Princeton duties, he has advised United States Missions to the Middle East, earning a citation in 1955-56 for meritorious service in helping formulate this country's economic policies in Turkey.

In a period when the social sciences have been tried, and generally found wanting, Patterson, the third able educator to head the Wilson School since its founding in 1930, has been a driving-force in two dramatic developments in his administrative bailiwick. The Wilson School's graduate program, geared to training the "broad specialist" in public affairs, has been completely re-tooled in the past year, while mid-October brought the public announcement of a Princeton-based summer study program in Europe for undergraduates drawn from Princeton and four sister institutions.

Patterson, a graduate of the University of Michigan and holding his doctoral degree from Harvard, cut his eye-teeth in government with the War Production Board in 1940-41 and subsequently accepted a Teaching Fellowship at Harvard. In 1942 he was appointed a United States Treasury Representative in war-ravaged North Africa and the Middle East and from 1944 until 1946, while serving with the Navy, was detailed to the Treasury Department in Western Europe and the Balkan Nations. Prior to his return to academic life in 1948 at Ann Arbor, he was this country's member of the Greek Currency Commission stationed in Athens.

Two springs ago Patterson, whose overseas missions have encompassed duty in all sections of the Mediterranean Basin, was the director of a far-reaching Princeton conference on "The Future of NATO." This Wilson School gathering, sponsored by the Carnegie Corporation of New York and marred only by atmospheric conditions characteristic of New Jersey at its summer worst, attracted representatives from all of the NATO nations and resulted in the publication of "A Critical Appraisal" that has generated heated discussions among government executives, legislators, scholars, editors and others influential in foreign affairs.

For his achievements as a teacher-scholar and as a public servant; for his capacity for discussing abstruse economic matters in terms understandable even to laymen; for his impact on a community which is deeply proud of its role as a training-ground for public affairs; he is Town Topics' nominee for

This Is PRINCETON

CONTRARY TO TREND
Male Tops Republican Tide. In an unusually strong endorsement of an incumbent's administration, Princeton returned Democratic Mayor Raymond F. Male to office by a wide margin Tuesday night at the same time that every other Republican candidate in the community was victorious. The results marked the first time within memory that a majority candidate from one party has been elected while all other office-seekers representing the opposition were approved.

Mayor Male, named to a second two-year term, topped the G.O.P. nominee, Orren Jack Turner Jr., 1902 to 1269. In doing so, he won every district in the municipality but the eighth.

As the result of the voting, the balance of power in both municipalities remains unchanged. The Borough Council will again provide the Mayor with a 4-2 majority, while the outcome in Princeton Township continues the Republicans' 4-1 advantage.

The trend matched that reflected throughout the State, where, off-year results enabled the Republicans to cut into the Democrats' slim majority in the Senate and add to GOP domination of the House. Political analysts promptly tabbed the electorate's decision as a blow to Gov. Mey-ner's hopes for a part in next year's Presidential race.

Borough Margin Close. Councilman Alfred E. Sorenson, named for a third three-year term, ouped the second Democratic candidate by a little more than 200 votes out of more than 3100 cast. His figure was 1661 to 1439 for Miss Esther Dilworth. Named with Mr. Sorenson to fill the vacancy created last winter by the resignation of Maurice A. Mather was William H. Walker, 2nd, who polled 1617. Kenneth Wells, Miss Dilworth's Democratic running mate, received 1116 votes.

Even closer was the victory of Theodore Stratton, Republican choice for tax collector who ousted the Democratic interim appointee, Gordon Waldron. The margin here was 1573 to 1497.
Edward G. Warren, tax assessor whom the Democrats did not oppose, was accorded a vote of 1877.

Township Stays Republican.
Committee-man John S. Mount, Republican incumbent, was returned to office, polling 1773 votes, while Thomas P. Cook, the other GOP nominee, received 1786. They defeated Richard T.
Frost (1402) and Henry S. Dyer (1331).

Township voters also backed the Republican tax assessor. Walter S. Foster Jr. defeated Mrs.
Christina C. D'Arms, 1858 to 1223.

Sweeney Named to Assembly.
The community's first representative in the State Assembly in more than a decade was elected Tuesday when Edward J. Sweeney of 15 Murray Place, a representative of organized labor for a Trenton industrial firm, was one of three Democratic candidates swept into office by more than 11,000 votes over the nearest Republican. No GOP candidate has been successful at the county level in Mercer for a dozen years.

Richard J. Coffee, a resident of Lawrenceville, was named to the County Board of Freeholders for a second term. His Democratic running mate, Arthur R. Sypek, was likewise successful—Mr. Coffee was the only Democrat at the county level to earn a plurality in either Princeton municipality.

Bond Issue Heavily Backed.
Biggest margin of all was accorded the $66.8 million college bond issue, which the Borough approved, 2084 to 692 and the Township backed even more heavily, 2122 to 593. This result was one of two passed in the State, winning along with the question seeking municipal option on games of chance.

Princeton Borough voted in favor (1400 to 1222) of legalizing such recreational activity but the Township disapproved by 28 votes —1476 to 1448. Both municipalities gave approval by upwards of 600 votes to the proposal to use surplus Turnpike Funds to subsidize commuter transportation, but the issue was defeated at the State level by a margin of about 3 to 2.

Princeton aided the Mercer County vote to close all but essential commercial operations on Sundays. The Borough recorded 1517 affirmative votes to 1084 against; the Township was in favor of Sunday closing, 1615 to 1276. Throughout the county, the total was 44,162 "yes" and 27,306 "no."

Election Odds and Ends. The vote was unusually heavy for an off-year, two out of every three registered voters in the Township going to the polls and almost 80 percent in the Borough. . . . Melvin Tamm, a member of the Department of Economics at Princeton University, staged a write-in campaign for corner in the second district of the Borough and received nine votes. . . . there were nine nominees on the ballot. Returns were particularly quick in being compiled, and TOWN

Township election service had final results in the Borough by 8:50, with the Township figures available shortly after 8:15. . . . Mayor Maie, charged by the opposition with having political interests beyond the bounds of Princeton, appears to be in a position to follow them at a later date if he chooses, but proved on a basis of his big margin that he is spending more than a satisfactory amount of time in Borough Hall. . . . he has repeatedly said, "I am happier when at my desk here than when I am working anywhere else."

ROUND-UP

Forthcoming legislation may require all drivers over 70 to take both a physical examination and a new driver's test. . . . under present policy, all drivers who are over 64 and are involved in an accident must do so but the law may be changed to make such re-examination necessary for everyone over 70.

tatives of the Internal Revenue Service, who asked business and professional firms to provide evidence that they are complying with taxpaying procedures in full. . . . District Director Chris L. Gross said that while "most delinquencies brought to light are the result of honest misunderstanding or oversight, the rare instances of flagrant abuse will be dealt with according to law."

The Halloween drive for UNICEF topped last year's figure of $1500 and this year's goal of $1600 by collection $1680. . . . 155 young Princetonians made door-to-door calls in the rain in an annual project sponsored by a number of different Princeton churches.

On another front, the Hospital Runnagge Sale reported proceeds of $255.28 and has issued a statement of thanks to the flock and Ladder Co. for use of its North Harrison Street firehouse and to Elmer Forbier for steady assistance in moving heavy objects.

Business note: parking meter collections are running about seven percent ahead of last year, through the end of October. . . . for the first ten months of 1959, receipts totalled $56,282.44, some $352.63 more than the corresponding period a year ago. . . . the trend indicates that the sum of $63,850 budgeted as revenue for 1959 will be exceeded.

Firestone Library reported its 10 millionth visitor last week since records were first kept in a decade ago. . . . odds are that the Yale-Princeton football game a week from Saturday will be a sell-out. . . . and if Princeton and Dartmouth come down to the last game with a chance at the title for the third year in a row, the Stadium may be equally well filled on that occasion, too.

GOAL ONE-THIRD REACHED

Fund Drive Going Fast. "The fastest-moving campaign in the history of the United Community Fund" is the way Walter H. Scott, executive director, characterizes the campaign to date. One-third of the goal—$70,000—has been achieved, according to Mr. Scott, and this is twice the amount reported on this date in previous years. Final goal is $210,000.

Half of the Special Gifts have been reported, and the figure for this category stands at $11,450, an increase of $7,350 over the amount reported from the same contributors last year. Clement Conole, chairman of the Special Gifts committee, has reported 226 gifts, or about half of the number being solicited. His committee hopes for additional increases totaling $12,500 for a division goal of $100,000.

Western Electric Research Center has reported $118,500, representing a company gift of $400 and pledges from 50 employees amounting to $78,500 for an average gift of $15.85. This is the first complete report from the Research Division of the fund and is almost triple the amount given last year.

Employees of Princeton Hospital have given $140,100. The sum from 171 contributors, includes 102 payroll deduction contributions. This incomplete report is $128 more than last year's final total.

At Princeton High School, the student campaign netted $28,200. The following home-rooms were cited for exceptional results: first place, senior home room 142; second place, junior home room 133, $18.65; third place, senior home room 135, $17.35.

ELECTION RESULTS

Miss Gurisic Wins. Defeating a Republican incumbent who had held office for two decades, Miss Grace Gurisic of Rocky Hill was elected Tuesday to the Somerset County Board of Freeholders. She won by 689 votes, polling 21,353 to 20,657 for E. I. Van Cleef, now in his seventh term as a freeholder.

In Rocky Hill Borough elections, Jack Nicholson, Democrat, and Richard Eyring, Republican, were elected. Miss Gurisic, whose term as mayor of Rocky Hill runs through 1960, said she will serve in a dual capacity next year.

margin of 33 votes represented the victorious campaign in Lawrence Township of Committee. Man Lloyd A. Carver. He polled 2547 to 2514 for his Republican opponent, Clifford W. Snedeker. Charles E. Connell, running with Mr. Carver, topped the ballot with 2938, while GOP nominee Theodore P. Maple drew 2138.

Hopewell Splits. Mayor Ernest H. Adler, Republican, was returned to office in Hopewell Borough, defeating Thurston B. Farr, 470 to 238. Council seats went to Carl J. Wilson, Republican, 400 votes, and Joseph B. Hill 2d, Democrat, 402. The pair were Harry A. Fehert, Republican, 248, and Ralph Ferrante, Democrat, 258.

Roszel in West Windsor. The race in West Windsor, where Committee man Malcolm B. Roszel and Democrat George C. Krebs won to the former, 709 to 432. B. Herbert Mather, running unopposed, polled 549.

South Brunswick Splits. A democrat, Hayden Ranke, polled 1280 votes to win a South Brunswick Township Committee seat on Tuesday, while Abraham Dobin, Republican, won with 1301. Edgar Renk, unopposed for assessor, received 2160 votes.

HIT ON HALLOWEEN

Two Girls Injured. Two teenage girls were injured on The Great Road early Halloween evening when they were struck by a car on the bridge north of the Mountain Avenue intersection. Both girls were taken to Princeton Hospital and have since been released.

Janet Leyton, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric M. Leyton of 224 Bayard Lane, and Sharon Sampson, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Sampson, 89 Westery, were walking south on The Great Road at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Garnet W. Brockelbank, 58, 210 Ewing, was driving south on The Great Road, according to Mr. Brockelbank, two cars with bright lights passed him at the top of the hill. He reached the bridge as a car going north approached, saw the two girls hurry to the side of the road, applied his brakes but slid on the wet pavement. Township Police measured a five-foot skid mark.

His car struck the two girls, knocking them off the west side of the road at the northern end of the bridge. One girl fell on the bridge and slid under the rail, the other fell to the right, Mr. Brock-elbank said he did not see the girls' flashlights.

In two other Halloween accidents, motorists failed to gauge the curves leading to the Stony Brook and Kingston Bridges. Fred Morelli of Trenton, traveling west on Mercer, left the right side of the road and hit the guard rail. A driver from Flushing, New York, skidded on the wet Princeton Kingston Road and crashed into the bridge.

TESTS ASKED

Of Country Club Backers. Members of Lawn, Inc., who seek to purchase the former Lahiere property on Mt. Lucas and Poor Farm Roads for a country club, were asked by Township Planning Board Monday night to find the answers to several questions on water and sewage disposal.

Samuel Frothingham, Planning Board chairman, asked the spokesmen for Lawn, Inc., to confer with the New Jersey state geologist to see whether the property could produce enough water to sustain a club of 250 members. The organization was also asked to retain an engineer who would conduct percolation tests to determine the sewage situation. The club will appear before the Board in December with the results of the surveys.

FIAT WRECKED

Driver injured. William B. Duryee, 32, 521 State Road, escaped injury Tuesday afternoon when his small Fiat was wrecked by a piece of concrete which fell from a truck into the Fiat's path.

Mr. Duryee was driving south on Bayard Lane and a half-ton tractor trailer driven by M. P. Hurd, III, of West Trenton, was traveling north. Near Birch Avenue, a concrete trough used to balance a trench digger on the trailer snapped loose and fell into Mr. Duryee's lane. He struck the concrete and his Fiat, wrecked, was towed away.

PUBLIC HEARINGS SET

For Tuesday at Borough Hall. Two public hearings will be included in the Borough Council meeting Tuesday at 8 in Borough Hall. The proposed ordinance on moving permits, the subject of controversy when it was introduced at a special meeting last month, will be discussed. At the October meeting, it was passed by a three-to-one vote with two councilmen absent.

Councilman Dan D. Coyle, who cast the sole vote against the measure, has attacked the ordinance as an "infringement of public liberty," and has pointed out that the "current loss of tax revenue is not sufficient to warrant its passage."

Expansion of Fire Companies. The second public hearing will be on the proposed expansion of membership in Princeton's fire companies. The present ordinance prohibits election of Township residents, although firemen may move from the Borough to the Township and retain membership.

Also included on the agenda for next Tuesday's meeting are the introduction of routine changes to the parking and traffic ordinance, and the announcement of appointments to various municipal boards. A recreation group to work with a similar Township body will be named.

"WE NEED SIDEWALKS"

For Township School Children. An informal plan to provide sidewalks for Township school children who walk to school, was outlined at Monday night's Township Planning Board meeting by R. Kenneth Fairman, Township mayor.

"We aren't working from any arbitrary figure at the moment," said Mayor Fairman, "but we're thinking in terms of sidewalks around all Township schools, maybe within a two-mile radius, maybe a mile."

The Township sidewalk program has been in effect, informally since 1956 and it has been held back chiefly by lack of funds, according to Joseph Nini, Township Clerk.

At Monday night's meeting, Mayor Fairman said that sidewalks are under study for Mt. Lakes up to Red Hill, to the Borough line on Jefferson, one or two additional blocks on Jefferson, and possibly either "Feeder" streets for Valley Road School.

PORTICO TO BE DEDICATED

In Veterans Day Ceremony. At 11:30 next Wednesday, the former Mercer Manor portico will be dedicated in Battlefield Park. Located in front of the circle of pines which surround the common grave of British and American soldiers, the portico was moved around 1900 from Philadelphia to Princeton where it was used as the entrance porch of Mercer Manor. It was designed by Thomas W. Walter in 1836.

In 1967, the Institute for Advanced Study, on whose property the portico stood, removed the columns in Battlefield Park to make way for additional housing. Money to put up the portico was raised through the Princeton Portico Fund Inc., with the columns and architraves donated by the Institute. The Fund's trustees are Shirley W. Morgan, president; Martin L. Beck, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Walter E. Edge, Alfred Green, Robert W. McLaughlin and Walter N. Robischid.

Program Planned. The Rev. Ernest Gordon, dean of the University Chapel, will give the invocation. Mr. Beck will tell the story of the portico with Prof. Morgan making the presentation. Frank Thompson Jr., congressman from New Jersey's fourth district, will speak on "Our Historic Monuments."

Salvatore A. Bontempo, commissioner of conservation and economic development for New Jersey, will unveil the tablets, and Major General James F. Cantwell, chief of staff for the state's defense department, will place the wreath. The color guard of Princeton Post 76 American Legion, will play taps.

RESCUE SQUAD ACTIVE

157 Calls in Four Months. From July through October, the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad answered 157 calls, representing 319 man-hours and 2260 miles of travel.

A volunteer organization, the Rescue Squad is currently soliciting funds for continued operation. Two public demonstrations of equipment are in the planning stage and will include explanations of the standards required of each member of the unit.

News Of The THEATRES

(The following review of "Oligage" was written for Town Topics by Prof. Armand Hoop, Professor in the Department of Romance Languages at Princeton University.)

RISK TAKEN - AND WON

In Single French Play Here, "It was Turelure who was right, not Sygne," Paul Claudel is said to have stated some time before his death.

The problem was eagerly discussed again last Thursday night during the intermissions, when the "Vieux Colombier" company of Paris played "Oligage" by Paul Claudel, in French, at McCarter Theatre, under the auspices of Princeton University's Department of Romance Languages. The play was a major success in Paris during the season 1948-49, when 122 performances were given consecutively.

By choosing to perform "Oligage" in New York and Princeton, the Vieux Colombier company took a risk, and, in our opinion, won. They believed that a story somewhat difficult for an American audience to accept, sometimes even shocking, with an ambiguous ending, could still force our admiration by the beauty of its language and its own peculiarly striking poetry.

The audience of French speaking Princetonians seemed to appreciate the Claudelian poetry just as the New York audience did. There were five curtain calls after the last act.

"Oligage" tells the story of the last two members of the feudal Coufontaine family, whose influence and wealth have been shattered by the Revolution. Napoleon is now Emperor of the French.

Sygne de Coufontaine lives a solitary life in the old abbey which she has bought back. Her cousin Georges is with the emigres, conspiring against Napoleon.

In the first act, Georges has abruptly appeared, with a mysterious old priest. This priest is the Pope, whom Georges has rescued from Fontainebleau, where he was Napoleon's prisoner. Then, the son of an old servant of the Coufontaine family, who has become a general of the Revolution and Prefect of the Marne, Toussaint Turelure, offers Sygne a dreadful choice. She must marry him or the Pope and Georges will be arrested.

She agrees to marry the man she hates so much, gives him a son, and finally saves his life, but without renouncing her hatred for him a single moment. On her deathbed she is asked to give Turelure the pardon without which there can be no salvation for her.

Will this aristocratic, feudal lady forgive the plebeian revolutionary who has forced her to marry him? Perhaps. The play ends without our knowing quite clearly. But Paul Claudel has taken special care to point out that Sygne's sacrifice is nothing if it is corrupted with pride, and that Turelure, odious as he may seem, represents his country's continuity and the march of history.

The play was beautifully performed by an outstanding cast, well worthy of the Vieux Colombier tradition. Especially Mlle Helene Sauvaneix as Sygne and Jean Le Poullain as Turelure gave an unforgettable rendering of the mighty, almost shakespearean poetry of Paul Claudel.

REHEARSALS PROGRESS

For "All My Sons." If rehearsals continue as they have thus far, we'll have no complaints," reports Grenville Cuyler, director of the Theater Institute production of Arthur Miller's "All My Sons," which will run from November 12 through 21 at Murray Theater. The chief line problem at the moment is a shortage of crew members to get the finished set pieces into place for the cast.

William H. Snow and Wilma Harris of Princeton and Betty Fussell of New Brunswick are featured in this story of war and disillusionment. Mr. Miller tells of a son who returns from the war to find his brother missing in action and his father guilty of manufacturing faulty airplane parts which have been responsible for the death of many pilots.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Devil's Disciple (November 4-10). We were not present during the sessions when Herbert-Lancaster Films and Kirk Douglas' Brynaphod, S.A., were dealing what him to make meat, but from the results, as shown in "The Devil's Disciple," we bet it went something like this:

Burt Lancaster: You seen "My Fair Lady?"

Kirk Douglas: Yep. Pretty fair show. Written by that English fellow, wasn't it—George Bernard Whatizname?

Burt: Shaw, that's right. Well, I've been thinking. This is a big year for all that old stuff. Maybe we ought to do something by Shaw. I think I can get hold of Laurence Olivier; he's a pretty good with ideas and all.

Kirk: Ideas? Now wait a second: I'm not running any philanthropic organization. How we gonna make money on ideas?

Burt: Who said anything about ideas? Now, I've never actually read anything by this Shaw fellow, but they tell me he wrote some real good stories. A little talky, but good, know what I mean?

Kirk: I get it. We get somebody to knock out a script, and instead of everybody talking all the time, they act it out. Like in the movies.

Burt: Right. And if this works out, maybe we can do some Shakespeare in pantomime.

Whether or not this is the way it really happened, the fact is that "The Devil's Disciple" is a kind of skeletal Shaw. Some of the witty lines are there (and Sir Laurence does very well with them), but the meat is missing. It's just a comedy of life in New England at the start of the Revolutionary War, spiced with melodrama and a little chaste romance. It's not bad, but neither is Shaw.

NUZZLIN' MUSLIN: Two of Hollywood's most attractive citizens, Doris Day and Kirk Hudson, are the stars of "Pillow Talk," opening next Wednesday at the Playhouse.

Pillow Talk (November 11-17) is a funny, happily imaginable comedy about life among the young and unpoverished in New York. The stars are Doris Day and Kirk Hudson, who are attractive and bright. The excellent supporting cast features Tony Randall, Thelma Ritter, Nick Adams and Julia Meade. The film is in CinemaScope and color.

The story revolves around the problems engendered by the fact that Miss Day, a rising interior decorator, and Hudson, an apparently wealthy bachelor songwriter, share the same party-line telephone number. Why, with all the good things of life both of them seem to enjoy, neither of them thinks to install a private line is something best known to elves and Hollywood scriptwriters. But it's just as well that they don't, for the complications which ensue are often hilarious.

Several unmemorable but pleasant songs have been supplied by Joe Lahn and T. J. Roth and there is some funny business about "Inspiration," a song Hudson warbles over the phone to each of his many girlfriends as if he had written it just for her. Michael Gordon was responsible for the highly professional direction. Recommended.

THE GARDEN

Gervaise (November 5-7) was filmed in 1956 and rapidly garnered the Cannes Film Festival and the New York Critics awards as the best foreign film of the year. The title role is taken by the beautiful and radiant German actress Maria Schell, who acquits herself with flying thespian colors.

The story is set in Paris during the Second Empire (1852-1870) and centers around Miss Schell, who reflects the disintegration of her age in her own character. It is a fascinatingly drawn portrait and director Rene Clement has made good use of his actors and his technical resources. The screenplay, based on a novel by Emile Zola, was prepared by Jean Aureneche and Pierre Bost. "Gervaise" is in French with English titles. Recommended.

IT'S NEW To Us

HEARTS AND FLOWERS
From Hopewell Florist's shop.
The pleasant combination of candies and flowers gives a sweet and delicate air to Allen's Flower Shop on Broad Street, Hopewell.
Here, in a delightfully remodeled old house, the shopper may choose an arrangement of dried autumn grasses or half a pound of some excellent hand-dipped chocolate miniatures.

(Actually, time-tables being what they are, you may have to wait a week or so before the chocolates are ready, but just think how your appetite can grow in that time!)

At the moment, Allen's has several little autumn still life clusters arranged on dried laurel root.
They are enhanced by the use of small birds from Hong Kong which have been dextrously put together from real tail and wing feathers.

A six-inch arrangement, just about the smallest of the group, combines thistle, dried pods and a small goldfinch. The laurel root base shows just enough to give added texture and substance to the design. This one is $3.50. On up the scale in size and price, you'll find rarer, thistles, fern seed and bell eucalyptus with a pair of birds poised among the plants.

Incidentally, Mr. and Mrs. Allen make these arrangements using, in at least two cases — the fern seed and laurel root — materials which they have gathered themselves.

Imported artificial flowers have also been grouped, sometimes in charming little milk-glass containers or low Egyptian copper bowls.
And there are compotes of precisely arranged artificial fruit, in the Victorian manner.

On the real side, Allen's has the leathery Fuji chrysanthemums to use in making your own arrangements, and the fat football mums to use for brightening your autumn lapel.

The shop also makes bouquets of a dozen miniature roses with hennery, which seem to be very popular sick-room cheer: the roses last a long time and the produced by Henry Winkler and directed by the actor Anthony Quinn, is a reasonably entertaining retelling of the story of Jean Laffite, the pirate who is credited with turning the tide in favor of the Americans in the Battle of New Orleans in 1815. The film, highly professional in all respects, is aided by the presence of a thoroughly competent and large cast, headed by Yul Brynner (with hair and mustache), Charlton Heston, Claire Bloom, Charles Boyer and Inger Stevens.

The plot, far too complicated to outline here, deals with battles, ship-burnings, Andrew Jackson (Heston), loves and hangings. It all makes more sense under the sure hand of Quinn's direction and the film retains a panoramic, historical quality while steering clear of the excesses of some of DeMille's other efforts. Released a year ago, "The Buccaneer" is, naturally, in VistaVision and Technicolor.

Room 34 (November 19-14) discloses the contention that all the bad films come from Hollywood; this one was made in London. Starring Dana Dor, the picture starts from the unarguable premise that prostitution is no business for nice girls and labors it humorously for 88 minutes as though half the audience were expected to hold the opposite view.

Gail Versaris, an innocent French waitress, has been imported to England by forces of evil (Hector Lom and Brenda De Ranzio) and compelled to work in their brothels. So that she will be able legally to remain in London, Miss Versaris is forced into a marriage with cab driver Eddie Constantine, who is in debt to the forces of evil but is really a good guy deep down. He arranges to free her, with the help of some other good guys (i. e., cab drivers) and the cascading Miss Dors, whose fallen state hasn't tarnished her heart of gold. The film bears no Seal of Approval from the Production Code Administration, but it deserves worse punishment than that for making morality dull.

"PANIC" SCHEDULED

By French Club. The French Club of Princeton University will present the prize-winning film "Panic," in French with English titles, at 8:30 next Tuesday in McCosh 10. The public is invited, and tickets will be available at the door at 50 cents each.

Winner of the Grand Prize of the Venice Film Festival in 1946, "Panic," an adaptation of a Georges Simenon story directed by Julien Duvivier, was described by Bosley Crowther as "a brilliant story of thoroughly fascinating and sardonic social comment from the screen." It is the second in the French Club's series of great French films.

sprinkles your clothes, and if that's a paradox, let it be one. A washer with a fabric drier goes all the way from "A" to "H".

In addition to Norge University Appliances carries RCA, Sylvania and Motorola television sets including such features as the 18-pound portable Sylvania which can be used without an aerial, and the 24-inch RCA console which should only be watched while wearing a brocade smoking jacket.

University Appliances offers you some of the lowest prices in town for these wares, and you can make your choices on Thursday and Friday evenings as well as on weekdays.

One Dollar, Well Spent. Not very many shoppers begin to pick up stockingsuffers the week after Halloween, but if you are one of these fore-thinking people, you'll be delighted with the collection of inexpensive leather accessories from West Germany at the Betty Wright Shop, Nassau Street.

For a dollar, you may have a comb and case, or a cigarette case, or a key case with a slot which the key-holder slides into for invisibility. For $2, a small coin purse and wallet, smaller than a French purse, but similar. Other pieces in this collection include a soft leather clutch bag about six inches long, gathered into a brass snap frame, and a clothes brush about three inches long whose top zips open to reveal a manicure set inside.

All these pleasant and useful articles come in almost any color you can name: red, black, pastel blue or pink, ivory. Many of the small purses are lined with suede leather and all are handsomely made.

In her lingerie boxes, Betty Wright has something else called a P-dogant, designed to be worn with a narrow skirt. It's a pair of knee-length tricot panties, lace-edged, snugly fitted from thigh to knee.

These are $3.95 from the house of Laros. The same manufacturer sends along a full slip, briefs and a half slip to match, all in white tricot and lace.

Other briefs are fitted snugly and cut high around the leg like the ship-ups of some decades ago. Laros makes these in black, white or pink, priced up to $4.95. A long tricot gown from this house comes in azure blue with a pink applique of roses.

The shoulder straps taper slowly from the bodice, giving a built-up effect with considerably more style than the usual built-up shoulder. The gown is edged with fine nylon net.

A lined leather belt for $5? Precisely. These are black with dull hammered brass oblongs here and there to give sober relief to the dark background. Sober, that is, until you peer closely and discover that the brass oblongs have "Rye," "Gin" and "Bourbon" engraved on each.

An unlined leather belt has been cut with one end wide and flaring, and the other of standard width to lie against it when the long, brass buckle is fastened. And for $2.98, there's a narrow belt which fastens with a tricky "Z" in brass instead of a buckle.

From "Stop" Sign Violation.
Henderson Smith, 37, 645 Snowden Lane, failed to observe a "stop" sign at the intersection of Broad-mead and Prospect Avenue and moved directly in front of a car driven by Miss Elsa Johnson, 22, Rosedale Road, Borough police reported. The resultant crash Monday night caused extensive damage to both cars.

Miss Johnson was taken to Princeton Hospital where she was treated by Dr. Leonard Berry for contusions of the left elbow and a bruise on the top of her head. After X-rays were taken she was released. Mr. Smith was charged with failure to yield the right of way at an intersection.

AN ARROW THROUGH THE HEART: Robert J. Vurecho, 17, of 58 Cedar Lane, brought down his first bow-and-arrow deer on Friday. The kill, a 130-pound doe, came after two weeks of patient sitting each afternoon after school, in a tree-top blind on Cherry Valley Road. Robert, a senior at Princeton High School, is a crack rifle shot, deep-sea fisherman and trapper. He caught 65 muskrat last winter in traps set in Lake Carnegie and he often shoots carp in the lake with bow and arrow. He plans a career in forestry.

George Derby, 49 Allison Road, to discuss the relation of higher education to the legislature and the electorate.

Dr. Earle Mosier, assistant commissioner of higher education in New Jersey, will be present to lead the discussion. Anyone interested in the subject is invited to attend.

BARN BURNS

In Kingston, fire destroyed a large barn at the Princeton Nurseries, College Road, Kingston, on Sunday, causing damage estimated at $12,000. Firemen were able to save three other buildings and a house.

Volunteer firefighters from Kingston, Monmouth Junction and Rocky Hill, directed by Jack Adams, battled the flames of three hours before bringing them under control. Officials were unable to determine the cause of the blaze.

Destroyed in the barn were two tractors, a manure spreader and other farm equipment, as well as a large quantity of lumber and straw. The property is owned by William Flemer.

THREE FINED

By Magistrate Tams. Magistrate Theodore T. Tams fined Mrs. Jean Skupinski, 41, 409 Walnut Lane $30 dollars for speeding and James P. Mitchell, New Road, Monmouth Junction, $15 for improperly displaying his license plates. Mrs. Skupinski pleaded not guilty and Mitchell guilty to the charge.

Jonathan Lange, 222 Walker Hall, Princeton University student, was fined $15 for being disorderly. Police arrested Mr. Lange October 25 at 2 in the morning, catching him in a malicious mischief act of taking a 25-mile speed sign from Washington Road.

MRS. HARRISON TO SPEAK

On YWCA Conference, Mrs. E. Harris Harrison, one of 11 women selected to represent the United States at the recent meeting of the YWCA World Council at Niagara City, will speak at 8 next Wednesday at the YW-YWCA, Avonlea Place. She will discuss her experiences at the meeting. Other YWCA functions scheduled for next week include: Newcomers Club pot-luck supper and illustrated lecture, November 12; bus trip to United Nations, November 14, and World Fellowship Committee at-home tea for foreign residents and visitors, November 15. Mimi Kagan will conduct a modern dance class for girls 10-12 at the Y beginning this Saturday.

CAMERON TO SPEAK

At Present Day Club Meeting, Clark T. Cameron, survey director for the Opinion Research Corporation, will discuss the "New American Elite" at the Wednesday meeting of the Present Day Club at its headquarters, 72 Stockton Street.

Mr. Cameron has been closely associated with studies into the scientific prediction of consumer behavior. Before joining ORC in 1953, his experience included work as a foreign correspondent, freelance writer, editor, research director and television commentator.

EAGLE SCOUT TO SPEAK

To Y Newcomers Club, Richard L. Chappell, who participated in the 1957-58 International Geophysical Year program in the Antarctic, will speak on his experiences at the YW-YWCA Newcomers Club meeting Tuesday. The "pot luck" supper meeting will begin at 8:30 and last until 10.

The youngest member ever to join the Explorers Club, Mr. Chappell is a sophomore at Princeton University. A 1956 graduate of Amherst Central High School, continued on Page 12.

MISS HALL RESIGNS

A Director of Nursing, Miss Mollie O. Hall resigned as Director of Nursing Service at Princeton Hospital effective November 1. She has been succeeded by Miss Kathryn Sweeney, formerly Assistant Director of Nursing Service.

A dinner in Miss Hall's honor will be given Wednesday at the Princeton Inn by the department heads of the hospital. She will be presented with a farewell gift.

A member of the Hospital staff since May, 1946, Miss Hall served first as assistant night supervisor in 1947 and then became, in turn, night supervisor, operating room supervisor and, in December, 1953, Director of Nursing Service.

In her 13 years at the Hospital, Miss Hall has seen the institution grow from 103 beds to its present 166 beds, plus the 42-bed geriatric unit, "Merwick."

A Princetonian since 1933, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hall of Snowden Lane, Miss Hall has lived in Princeton since 1933. She was graduated from Miss Finn's school and from the Johns Hopkins Institute in Baltimore, from which she received her nursing degree in 1933.

Upon graduation, she entered the U.S. Army Nurse Corps, serving in England until the end of the war in Europe when she returned to this country to join a hospital unit which was being formed for the Pacific theater.

Victory in the Pacific came, however, and Miss Hall returned to civilian life.

Miss Sweeney was graduated in 1946 from the Wilkes Barre General Hospital School of Nursing.
She came to Princeton Hospital in 1952. From 1951 to 1958 she was assistant and relief supervisor of nursing and in January of this year was made Assistant Director of Nursing Service.

Other lectures in the series will be "Romanism and Sona-

STOLEN CARS LOCATED

By Princeton Police. Police recovered a stolen car belonging to Mrs. Gladys Briscoe, State Road, taken from in front of the Princeton Public Library October 27, the following day in Hackensack. The car had been abandoned in a damaged condition.

A car reported missing by Henry Miller, 20 N. Stanworth Drive, on October 26 was found the next day abandoned on Tee-Ar Place. Police returned the car to Mr. Miller in good condition.

OF HUMAN RIGHTS

Community Audit to be Held.
An "audit" of the Princeton community attitude toward human rights will be conducted this year by the Princeton Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom and the project will be launched next Thursday with a talk by Hugo Bedau,
"Sense and Nonsense About Human Rights." Mr. Bedau will speak at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. J. William Blattenberger, 49 Randall Road.

In the course of the meetings of the organization will work through interviews and observations to find answers to such questions as group offenders, discrimination in eating places and so on.

EIGHT LEADERS INVESTED

By Area Girl Scout Council.
The Princeton Area Girl Scout Council has invested eight new leaders at its scout headquarters, 4 Green Street. Council president Mrs. Reginald Hackley conducted the investiture.

Mrs. Ledyard Tucker is chairman of the training committee and is assisted by Mrs. Arthur B. Coe, Mrs. Robert Gagne and Mrs. Richard W. Quarles. Completing the basic ten-hour course were: Mrs. John Cornell, Mrs.
Ross Shrader, Mrs. R. G. Whitter, Mrs. Harold M. Hinkson, Mrs. Eugene W. Beste, Mrs.
William Cherry, and Mrs. Joseph Wilson, all of Princeton, and Mrs.
Richard L. Anderson of Dutch Neck.

A craft workshop and exhibit of work done by scouts will be held Thursday and Friday for all Girl Scout leaders at the scout office between 10 and 4. Any interested person is invited to attend.

Mrs. Heath Licklider and Mrs.
David Farnes represent the Girl Scouts at a district conference for scout leaders held at Lakewood.

ROTC TO PARADE

On Fitzpatrick Field. The Army
ROTC unit of Princeton University will hold its annual fall review next Thursday at 3:30 on Fitzpatrick Field. The F. and D. Dix band will provide the music.

Colonel William H. Corbett will present awards to 12 seniors, who will be eligible in June for active as well as reserve commissions.

NO PLACE TO BE: Princetonian Robert Ayars once spent "the longest two minutes of my life" in a mighty uncomfortable place. This week, he and a dozen others report on "the worst experience of my life" in answer to a question put by Town Topics' inquiring Reporter.

Question of the Week

Question: What do you remember to be the worst experience in your life?

Where asked: On Nassau Street.

William McIntosh, 31 Moran Avenue, laborer. When I was a kid, three of us stole some black dynamite powder from a shanty at some quarry. The stuff caught fire and I almost burned my right leg off. I still have scars all over my leg today.

Barbara Lann, Province Line Road, housewife: All I can think of is getting stuck in heavy traffic on Nassau Street. Otherwise I've led a charmed life.

Mrs. Joseph Stemmle, 112 Moore Street, secretary: The hurricane of '38. My husband and I were on our way to New England and we had to turn around and go back. We got as far as New Haven and ruined our car coming back.

Patrice Berre, 95 Spruce Street, cosmetician: I think the worst thing was the loss of the use of my legs for a year through illness. Due to this handicap, it's taken me a long time to establish myself and be independent.

Thomas Wonnacott, 32 Witherspoon Lane, graduate student in statistics: I once got a 10 in a chemistry exam and I've had an aversion for chemistry ever since.

Mrs. Cecilia Knoepfnaecher, 218-D Halsey Street, housewife: I had just come to the United States from South America and had been on a walk with my brother. I got separated from him and got lost. I was only ten at the time and could not speak English, and I experienced an extreme panic. After wandering around I was finally able to find my way home.

Robert Ayars, 57 Jefferson Road, Palmer Square custodian: My automobile accident two years ago. I flipped over my car and was pinned under it for two minutes. I feel they were the two longest minutes of my life.

Glenn Thomas, 12, 154 Prospect Avenue, 8th grade, Princeton County Day School: The first day I went to PCDS. All those new faces, new teachers—the whole system was a lot stricter than public school.

Mary Lewis, Lincoln Highway, typist: I guess the worst one would be when I was in New Brunswick with my father and brother and I happened to be the witness of a murder. A man had

Experiences Vary Widely

Town Topics' inquiring Reporter could hardly have been more surprised last week at the wide variety of answers when he asked a baker's dozen Princetonians what the worst experience in their lives was.

To some, it was nothing more than being lost as a child or failing an examination, but others reported sheer melodrama. One was tormented at sea, another badly burned by dynamite powder, a third witnessed a murder.

TOWN TOPICS' inquiring Reporter returned to his desk firm in the belief that rather than merely having completed a short feature, he had uncovered several plots for full-length novels.

shot his wife. We didn't actually see the shooting but afterwards he began to bludgeon her on the face with the pistol.

Maurice Gludhill, Box 632, chauffeur: The time my house burned down.

Mrs. Evelyn Richardson, 20 E. Stanworth Drive, housewife: Being stuck in the middle of traffic on the Place de l'Opera in Paris and losing my nerve to go on.

Thomas Keating, 322 Joline Hall, student: I was torpedoed at sea 600 miles off the coast of Ireland. We were picked up about 18 hours later by a Swedish yacht. I was on the Athena.

Mrs. Ruben Braunstein, 42 Spruce Street, housewife. An earthquake in Los Angeles. I was awfully small at the time and it was a very frightening experience. A lot of buildings were leveled.

Ijay Stalcup, 27 Linden Lane, hair stylist: The time I walked off a 20-foot cliff in the middle of the day. It was at the edge of a large recreation area in California and it was hazy at the time.

Alfred B. Mason, 327 Nassau Street, retired janitor: I was riding with a guy in a car one night and the driver went to dim his lights and turned them off instead. I put my hand over and grabbed the wheel and swung the car back on the road just as we were about to hit a pile of cord wood piled along the road.

IT WAS 30 YEARS AGO: The Princeton Nursery School on Leigh Avenue celebrated its 30th birthday Monday with a tea in honor of its fine accomplishments. The School, now a member of the United Community Fund, was started in 1928. In this picture, Miss Eve Miller, far left, director of the School, talks with some of the women who have been associated with the group over the years. Next to Miss Miller are Miss Dorothy Harris, first supervisor; Mrs. Simon Moss, first nursery teacher; Mrs. William Brearley, one of the founders, and Mrs. Albert Gordon, who came to the school when she was nine months old and stayed until she entered first grade.

SERVICES TO BE HELD

Honoring Veterans. Members of Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion, will conduct memorial services, next Wednesday, Veterans Day, at 11 a.m. at the World War I monument, junction of Mercer and Nassau Streets, and at Princeton Battlefield Park.

The portions at the Park will be dedicated at that time. At 8 p.m. next Wednesday, members of the post will gather at headquarters, 55 Mercer Street, for an illustrated talk by Commander Joseph R. Wood. Commander Wood, now executive officer of the Navy Turbine Testing Center, Trenton, was formerly stationed in Alaska and Iceland and he will discuss his experiences in those posts, illustrating his talk with colored slides.

DOG DOGS INOCULATED

To Comply with the Law, David C. Blake, Princeton Borough Health Officer, reported that 173 Borough and 292 Township dogs, plus four from other municipalities which somehow managed to sneak through, were inoculated last week against rabies. This was the culmination of a compulsory ordinance passed in both municipalities that stemmed from a child being bitten last December by a stray dog which was never located.

Dr. Russell Edmunds and Dr. Maurice Smith, veterinarians from the Lawlor Hospital for Animals, administered the shots given at a different location in the Borough or Township each day. Mr. Blake warned that anyone in the Borough or Township who failed to have his dog inoculated will be unable to renew the animal's license which expires December 31. This would exclude, he added, any dogs that were privately inoculated or were inoculated last May.

DANCE WILL BE HELD

At Sportsmen's Club. Members and guests of the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club will gather this Saturday at 9 for a Halloween Eve Supper Dance at the Club on Terhune Road. Tickets may be obtained from any member.

How High the Brow?

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

For Heaven's sake give the reviewer of the Kingston Trio some antacid pills and an album of Mother Fletcher's Instant Madrigal Singers. And next time, send someone whose brow isn't quite so high.

WILLIAM H. SNOW
292 Edgershouse Road.

(Editor's Note: The reviewer in question has the lowest brow of anyone in the office.)

Reply to Mrs. Roberts.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

Mrs. Roberts seems to be confused about the selection of pictures for the Festival of the Arts. First, it must be said that it is the avowed purpose of the Festival to secure the finest works available for the exhibition. To achieve this end many paintings by established artists were selected and invited by the art committee.

Second, to avoid bad feelings and favoritism, it was decided that an out-of-town jury should pass on the work of all artists residing within the Princeton area. No artist in this area had work especially invited, but all went before the jury. We can think of no fairer solution.

Third, in selecting jury members, the committee made every effort to secure the services of competent and respected professional artists representing different points of view as to schools of painting. The committee firmly believes that such men are better qualified and more in touch with the problems of living painters than "art historians" or "museum persons", or others.

Fourth, in reply to the suggestion that "it is improper for jurors to show their own work in an exhibition which they have judged", contrary to being improper, the committee knows of no major exhibition where the jurors are NOT invited, out of courtesy, to show their own work if they so desire. Naturally if the jurors were museum directors, art historians, critics or dealers, this would not be possible and perhaps improper.

Fifth, any system of juried selection of paintings is bound to hurt some feelings. But we agree with Mrs. Robert: that it is important that somehow the best work of artists, here and elsewhere, be shown in the public. We want to thank the many who submitted work to the Festival, and hope that interest in the exhibition continues to grow as it has this year.

MUSIC In Princeton

(The following review of Carl Weinrich's organ recital was written for TOWN Topics by Winthrop S. Fisk, member of the Princeton Chapter, American Guild of Organists.)

ORGAN IS DEDICATED

By Weinrich at First Church, Carl Weinrich, Princeton's world famous organist, played the dedicatory recital on the new Holzkamp organ in the First Presbyterian Church Sunday afternoon before a large audience. Although the works selected ranged chronologically from about 1500 to the present, no pieces representative of 1800 to 1900 were included. The omission stems, one suspects, from the tastes of the recitalist. It would have been interesting to hear some Franck or Widor on the organ, the tone of which is hardly to be described as romantic.

Cabezon's good humored "Variations on 'The Knight's Song'" were infectiously gay, a good opener for the program. Sweelinck's naive echo effects in the "Fantasy in Echo Style" continued the mood and were projected with admirable verve and clarity.

Hindemith's "First Sonata" must take its place among the great pieces in the organ literature, and Dr. Weinrich's playing of it was incomparably exciting. In particular it effectively displayed the moltingly lovely string celeste stop in the Swell division of the organ without at any time stooping to the mawkish sentimentality that one comes to associate with the less fortunate uses of such a stop.

Yet a certain impression of unevenness was left with this review. Much of this was undoubtedly due to the tonal structure of the organ itself; a small part must be laid to the choice of tempo and registration in parts of certain pieces.

Thus, in the forte passages at the opening of the Mozart "Fantasy" a certain harshness of tone was intrusive and almost offensive in its effect. In the Bach prelude, "These are the Holy Ten Commandments," the tone of the organ was downright nasty. One listener sitting near the reviewer summed it up well when he said "It sounds nice when it's not too loud."

As to tempo, there were moments when a sense of hurry-rush was allowed to disturb the listeners serenely. Surely, for example, some retard is permissible at the conclusion of Bach's monumental "Toccata, Adagio and Fugue".

In fairness to organist and organ builder it must be added that Princeton's First Presbyterian Church is acoustically a rather dry environment for any organ. One cannot help remarking the way the sound just vanished into the woodwork each time the organist released a chord.

Such an environment is indeed a severe test of organ and organist. Every nuance, each phrase, even each note of the music will be heard in almost clinical detail. This being the case, a certain lack of fullness in the tone of the organ is inevitable, and the player must have a sure technique, for the slightest slip of a finger will become glaringly apparent. It is a pleasure to report that Dr. Weinrich's technique is beyond cavil.

ORCHESTRA PLAYS WELL

In First Series II Concert. Seventeenth and eighteenth-century music for chamber orchestra was performed in McCarter Theatre on Monday night by Clarion Concerts, a comparatively new and musically worthwhile organization from New York City. Besides being the opening program of the Princeton University Concerts, Series II 1959-60 season, this was also the first concert this season for the performing group, which made its debut only last year.

Newell Jenkins, the orchestra's young and energetic conductor, led a similar group in Italy before coming to the United States, where he organized the now-extinct—Continued on Page 22

ing 11-member orchestra, named "Claron Concerts" for the Claron Music Foundation. Besides performances in cities outside the New York area, a series in Town Hall is scheduled for Claron Concerts this year.

The early works performed were all compositions by composers little-known to the average concert-goer, with the exception, perhaps, of Carl Philipp Emanuel Bach, whose Harpsichord Concerto in G minor was definitely the high point of the evening. Genuine enjoyment of the work — of its vitality and verve in the first and second movements and the rich beauty of the second — was communicated by the players, and Albert Fuller did a commendable job of performing the virtuosic harpsichord solo.

The Locatelli Violin Concerto in E flat, on the other hand, though well-played, seemed a rather dull, unimaginative piece. It is unfortunate that a more interesting work could not have been chosen to feature Gerald Tarak, the concertmaster, who had to be content to play a maximum of "patitis" with the orchestra and a minimum of solo passages.

The single contemporary offering of the evening was Karol Rathaus' "Music for Strings." Mr. Rathaus came to America in 1939, a Polish refugee and former teacher at the University of Vienna. He took a teaching position at Queens College, where he remained until his death in 1961. "Music for Strings," written in 1941, displayed a good deal of dramatic intensity and compositional craftsmanship.

The total effect of the orchestra's performance was that of fine musicianship, excellent ensemble, and meticulous attention to phrasing and dynamic detail. There was one disappointing factor in the evening as a whole, however, and that lay not at all in the musical sphere, but in the size of the audience, appreciative though it was.

An estimated 109 in an auditorium which holds 1077 is a rather poor showing for a community which offers many opportunities for broadening musical horizons. Somehow the phrase "chamber music" has an unpleasant ring to the ears of many an otherwise enthusiastic concert-goer, and especially music of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. Musical composition of every period is written within the framework of influences of the times.

A slow movement of an early concerto grosso can be as heartbreakingly tragic or as serenely joyous as a slow movement of a nineteenth-century string quartet; the difference lies in their modes of expression. It is high time that the general public's appreciation of music be extended back to the centuries of these "forgotten" composers. And why not? After all, those boys could write, too?

DYER BENNETT TO SING
In McArthur Recital. Choosing his program from a repertoire of 700 songs, Richard Dyer-Bennett, folk-song artist, will appear in McArthur Theater on November 11 under the auspices of Dana Attractions. Tickets are available at the University Shop or by mail from Dana Attractions, Box 3, Princeton.

Mr. Dyer-Bennett made his debut in 1911 and since that time has presented more than 30 New York recitals, singing 17 times in four years in either Carnegie Hall or Town Hall. He has been called one of the most important influences in launching the present revival of interest in folk music.

MASS WILL BE SUNG
By Musical Amateurs. The Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs will sing the Mass in C Major by Beethoven this Sunday at 5 p.m. in the gymnasium of Miss Fine's School. Orchestra and singers will be under the direction of J. Merrill Knapp of the University's department of music.

The amateur group, which sings without rehearsal and solely for its own musical enjoyment, will have as soloists Thelma Young, soprano; Barbara Hilbish, contralto; Robert Holland, tenor and Thomas Connelly, bass. Those who wish to attend should make supper reservations by calling Mrs. MacKenzie Bryan, WA 1-0453, between 2 and 4:30.

PIANIST WILL PLAY
In Free Recital. Russell Sherman, pianist, will give a recital this Sunday at 2:15 p.m. in Proctor Hall of the Graduate College. It will be the first concert of the season for the Friends of Music at Princeton and it will be presented to the public without charge.

For his recital, Mr. Sherman has chosen the Mozart Fantasia in C Minor, K. 396, Edward Elgar's "Suite," Ravel's "Mirrors," the Variations on a Theme by Paganini by Brahms and the Barcarolle in F Sharp Major, Opus 60 by Chopin.

Mr. Sherman is on the music faculty of Pomona College in Claremont, California. He has appeared with the Detroit Symphony and the New York Philharmonic and will appear next spring with the New Haven Symphony.

ORCHESTRA REHEARSES

For November Concert. Nicholas Harnanyi and the Princeton Symphony Orchestra have begun rehearsals for their first concert of the 1959-60 season, to be given Monday, November 18, at 8:30 p.m. in McArthur Theater.

Soloists with the orchestra for this first program will be George Jones, clarinetist, and Earl Kim, pianist and composer. Mr. Jones, first clarinetist of the Princeton Symphony since 1956, is a member of the faculty of Douglass College. He will be heard on Monday night in the clarinet concerto of Aaron Copland.

Mr. Kim, a member of Princeton's music faculty, will play his own composition, "Dialogues for Piano and Orchestra," in its first performance. The work was commissioned by the Fromm Music Foundation and was completed in October. Haydn's Symphony No. 92 and Liszt's "Les Preludes," will also be on the Princeton Symphony's program.

IVY RACE AT CLIMAX

Six Teams in the Race: The Ivy League is a scant four years old, based on the date of its formal organization, but it may be a lot longer than that before the park pounding down the stretch is more closely finished. As the November games begin, a three-way deadlock for first place exists and no less than six of the eight teams have a good shot at the title.

While two of Saturday's contests will go far toward determining the outcome of the race, expectations are that it will not be decided until Thanksgiving Day, traditional date of the Penn-Cornell clash at Philadelphia. Meanwhile, a much better indication of the top teams in the circuit will be available this weekend after the Harvard-Princeton game at Cambridge and the Yale-Penn clash on Franklin Field.

It was a major break for Princeton in more ways than one that Harvard upset Penn last Saturday. Over the years, the Tigers have had a tendency to look just the Crimson to Yale and Dartmouth, and if the Cantals had waited until this week to explode the potential they now have shown, it might well have been Princeton on the short end of an upset.

The Tigers may still have, for reasons varying from their sizeable string of injuries to possible breaks of the game on which an alert, gamibling Harvard eleven can capitalize. Off its increasing solid defense—three shutouts in six games and an average of only 5.3 points allowed per opponent to date—Princeton ranks as the favorite, but can count on having an afternoon-long battle to prove it.

Wingbacks Needed. Princeton's injury list, which has included a majority of the positions on the team since the season began, is acutely affecting the wingback slot, where Mike Iman and John MacMurray are definitely unavailable and Ron Goldman is question-mark. MacMurray joined the sideline brigade early in the Brown game, suffering a severe hip bruise, and Charlie Phillips turned in a tremendous performance in a reserve capacity.

Tl 168-lb. sophomore played with both the first and second teams, staying on the field continuously from midway through the first quarter until after the Tigers had completed their fine, goal-line stand early in the fourth. In fact, it was Phillips who fell on the fourth-down fumble that ended Brown's bid for an upset on the Princeton five-yard line.

Princeton recorded a slim 7-0 triumph over the improving Bruins on the strength of the day's only scoring drive and the defensive know-how that enabled it to turn back the losers from a first and goal-line situation on the Tiger three. Midway through the third quarter, the Orange and Black capped a 62-yard march by sending Dan Sachs into the end zone on a double reverse. Brewster Lord booted the point and just after the fourth-quarter got under way, Brown was held four times within the three-yard line to seal the verdict. The Tigers dominated much of the action but the visitors' fired-up attitude and the standout running of All-Ivy fullback Paul Choquette kept the outcome in doubt until the closing minutes.

Harvard Has Ravenel. The Ivy League's most colorful quarterback, 164-lb. Charlie Ravenel, marks the Harvard offense, which derives its running strength from halfbacks Chet Boulris, All-Ivy as a junior, Larry Kopsch and fullback Sam Halahy. Boulris is the big threat, presuming his complete recovery from an injury in the Penn game after he got both Harvard touchdowns.

The Crimson line is as big as Princeton's, averaging around 260, but lacks the experience the Tigers can muster, particularly if Captain Frank Szvetez is ready for heavy duty at center. The Tiger leader sat out all of the Brown game, marking the first time since September of his sophomore year that he has not seen action.

With Dan Sachs and Hugh Scott at tailback, Mike Ipejito and Don Kornrumpf at fullback, Princeton has greater ability and more depth at these two positions than it has enjoyed in a number of years. Wingback and Szvetez are the question-marks; if both are answered favorably, Princeton should win by a touchdown or two.

Sight should not be lost, however, of Harvard's new-found confidence after defeating Penn and of the trouble that the Crimson generally gives Princeton—particularly in its own ball park. The Tigers will have to play a lot of spotlight football to win this one.

PHS HOME FOR LAST TWO

The next to last of Princeton High School's two remaining football games will be played Saturday when the Little Tigers will face an always-tough Long Branch eleven at 2 PHS, currently 3-2-1, is last running out of games to win as it huffs and puffs to better last year's 4-4 record.

Last Saturday the Somerville Pioneers, labeled by PHS coach Joe Jingoli as "the best team we've met all year," managed to overcome a short-lived Little Tiger lead and beat them 12-7. The game was played in a combination drizzle and rain that turned into a downpour in the closing minutes. Primarily a passing team and one which depends heavily on pitchouts and reverses in its running attack, Princeton High was hurt the most by the rain.

Perone Goes 92 Yards. The first half was scoreless. Russ Perone, fleet PHS wingback (see, "We Congratulate") soon alerted that by taking the Pioneer second half kickoff on the Blue and White eighty-yard stripe and racing 92 yards for the visitors' only touchdown. Howard Gould's successful PAT kick made it 7-0.

Princeton High was unable to make its lead stick as the Pioneers, after being stopped by a fumble on the PHS ten, drove 35 yards in seven plays for their first six-pointer. Later, a pass interception started Somerville on its winning drive. On the first play of the final quarter, John North, who did most of the gaining for the home team and who scored its first TD, racked up his second and Somerville's winning touchdown.

Its air attack (for 13) grounded by the rain, PHS elected to stay on the ground and had Somerville rooters on the edge of their seats as it drove to the home team ten-yard line with four minutes remaining to play. A stubborn Pioneer defense and the pouring rain were too much for the Little Tigers, however, as they failed in four tries to push across the winning tally.

"I think it would have been different," Jingoli said afterward, "if it weren't for the rain. We would have been able to play a different type of ball game. As it was, it was too dangerous to use anything but straight-forward line plays."

Applegate Returns to Action. The game marked the return to action of Ridge Applegate, starting end for the Little Tigers who had missed the last two games with an injured knee. For the losers, Ken Reed and Howard Gould were outstanding defensively.

On Saturday, the Little Tigers go against a team that Jingoli says "will be even tougher than Somerville." Always a dangerous outfit, Long Branch lost its last game to Rayway and stand 4-2 for the year. The Little Tigers should be at full strength and in a good position to stave for last year's 21-6 beating by Long Branch. A victory for the Blue and White would keep the team's spirit up for the final and all-important game against Ewing.

SKIDDING HUN BELOW 300

Open Date Next Week. The Hun football team's third and last home game of the season will send it against the George School of Newtown, Pa., Saturday, November 14. An open date gives Hun coach Hawley Waterman two weeks to get ready for a team Hun shutout last fall, 6-0, and one which it must beat again this year if it is to record its second winning season in a row.

Last Friday, the Red and Black dropped its second straight to Friends Central, 14-0, in a game in which an unfamiliar Quaker defense and a couple of touch-down-saving tackles by the home team safety men were mainly responsible for Hun's failure to score. After the opening kickoff, Friends Central switched to a four-man line with four line-backers who kept "stunting" or shifting from side to side until the ball was snapped, a maneuver that upset the Red and Black offensive blocking to the extent that it never was able to get a sustained drive going. "We could get one or two first downs in a row, but never the third," Waterman said.

Twice, Hun halfback Paul Kadlec almost went all the way, once on a punt return and once on a pass interception, only to be finally caught from behind. On another occasion, Gary Grover intercepted an enemy pass in the open but was off balance and could only run a few steps before failing. "Actually our boys played a good game," Waterman reported, "but the other team was fired up. (It was) hunkering over Friends Central) and wanted to win the game a little bit more than we did."

RUSS PERONE
Princeton High Wingback

Most people would agree that anyone weighing 135 pounds and standing only 5-7 has no business on a football field. And just about everyone would agree that to expect a player with such diminutive dimensions to become both the leading scorer and pass receiver on a football team would amount to pure fantasy. Everyone except Russell Perone, Princeton High School wingback.

Russ currently is the leading scorer for the Little Tigers, having made six of their 15 touchdowns. Four of these TDs came as the result of spectacular catches of passes thrown by Jack Hawkins. Like all good receivers, Russ makes the difficult look easy. Chiefly responsible for his success is his change of pace going into the field.

"Because his defenders badly misjudge his speed, Perone is able to get in the clear often," PHS coach Joe Jungell comments. Russ caught two passes to account for both PHS scores in the Freehold game, and in the Blue and White's 40-0 rout of Trenton Catholic, he was the receiver on two more scoring passes of 39 and 41 yards.

As a ball carrier, Perone is extremely fast and deceptive. His finest performance came last week against Somerville when he turned in PHS's longest run of the year, returning a kickoff 92 yards for the Little Tigers' only score.

Against Trenton Catholic, he carried the ball five times for 41 yards and an eight-yard average, getting 23 of them on a Statue of Liberty touch.

down play in which at least three TC defenders had a clean shot at him.

Russ is a coach's dream in that he can do just about everything on offense. He can pass, being especially effective in throwing on the dead run; he can block, tackle and, if necessary, can punt. In addition he teams up with Jack Hawkins as twin safety men for the Little Tigers. Coach Jungell credits him with "doing a little bit of everything well."

Coming up from the junior varsity, Perone, because of his small stature, had to fight for his position. He won his job from a heavier player through determination, aggressive play and his patent abilities. Best of all for Princeton High, the 15 year-old business education junior will be back next year to raise hob with PHS opponents.

game edge over Deckers Dairy (31) in the "A" League. In the new Princeton Mixed League, Rose (14) retained the lead, but Kleiber (12) forged ahead of Friel (8) for the runner-up slot. Tiger Garage (32) is the leader in the Industrial loop, followed by Para Loh Supply (28). Hook and Ladder H is pacing the Firemen's League with 32 triumphs, trailed by Dutch Neck (29) and Belle Mead and Mercer No. 3 (28 each).

In the Princeton Women's League, Cranbury Bank (44) increased its margin over Tiger Bus and Emvies & McVaugh (36 each) and Mixers (32). Foreign Country Club and Cifelli Electric remain tied for the lead in the Women's Industrial circuit, with 52 wins apiece. Nassau Service trails with 44.

Notable individual scores: Maurice Cleghill, 229; Bill Bathie, 222, and Mike Fittell, 214, in the "B" League; Bill Dumble, 206, in the "A" League; Ralph Kleiber, 195, and Betty Kleiber, 159, in the Mixed League; Pros Aeschbacher, 214, in the Industrial League; Bucky Cupples, 237-201; Bip Davison, 229; Walt Coan, 217, and Frank Siofko, 214, in the Firemen's League; Doris Curran, 203, and Thelma Forman, 181, in the Women's League, and Dorothy Moore, 188, in the Women's Industrial League.

The contest marked the return of David Savidge, starting tackle who was injured in Hwa's opener against Pennington. His brother, Pete at center, and Alex Cameron played a fine line game. ### FCD TOPS NEWARK

First Time in Football. The first victory that Princeton Country Day School has scored over the Newark Academy juniors in football was recorded Friday afternoon on the losers' field by a 14-12 score.

FCD came from behind to win after Newark Academy had taken an early lead. John Brinkhoff and Jopner Pettit each scored a touchdown for the Blue and White with Pettit and Dick Reynolds adding the conversions that made the difference. The Broadmead eleven will play Pingry away on Friday, November 13, to end its season.

In soccer last week, Country Day gained revenge against the only team that has beaten it this season, blanking West Windsor, 2-0, on goals by Peter Wright and Bob Griggs. The team's record after six games was two victories and three ties against a single defeat.

BOWLING NOTES

Township Police Win. The Township police outrolled the Borough police, 1848-1633, in a special match at Princeton Recreation Center on Sunday. The Township also triumphed on the basis of the best two team games out of three.

The day's highest single game, a 215, was rolled by Doug Watson of the Borough, who also scored 127 and 163 for a 532 series. Scoring leaders for the Township were Jack Petrone, 167-152-149 (512), and Sam Lial, 146-158-175 (481).

In regular league play, Walker Gordon posted four victories in dead-end Cifelli Electric at 31-11 in the "B" League, while Shelton Motors (36) held onto its two-

SKILLED LABOR
is an Ingredient of Industrial Success in New Jersey?

A very important ingredient in the success of industries operating in New Jersey is the availability of skilled labor. This is proven by the unusually high value added by manufacture of products made in our state.

The variety of diversified skills is shown in the wide range of durable and non-durable goods manufactured at the Crossroads of the East. Workers are experts in chemicals, in fabrication, in complex instruments and textiles and ceramics, as well as with needle and thread.

In its training in vocational schools, New Jersey leads all other states by a wide margin in expenditures per pupil. Courses in the 20 schools cover all trades, and they serve as training grounds for employees in all types of manufacturing.

News Of The CHURCHES

CONSECRATION PLANNED

At Princeton Methodist. The new Education Building, the renovated chancel and the new organ of Princeton Methodist Church will be consecrated next Sunday, November 15, at a day-long series of events. The program will open with a consecration service at 11 a.m. in the sanctuary, led by the Rev. Charles W. Marker, pastor. Fred G. Holloway, president of Drew University, Madison, will preach the sermon.

Next event will be a dinner at 1 p.m. at the Nassau Inn. Special music will be given by the organists, superintendents of Methodist districts in the area, and the architects for the church improvements.

The church will be open to the public at 3:30 p.m., and there will be a recital of the new organ at 4:30. Guest organist will be John Huston, organist and director of music for First Presbyterian Church, New York. The new organ, which was built by Chester Raymond, consists of three basic divisions with a total of 1,448 pipes. It replaces the original organ given in 1911 by Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Sandford. A few pipes from the original organ were rescaled and incorporated in the new instrument.

MEETINGS SCHEDULED

By Women's Groups. The Princeton Council of Church Women will hold a World Communion Day program Friday evening at 8 at Princeton Methodist Church. Speaker will be Mrs. William L. Tucker, who has recently returned from two years in the Orient. Mrs. Thomas Webb is program chairman.

A round-table discussion of "Christianity and Space Exploration" will be presented Monday afternoon at 2 at a meeting of the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church, to be held in the Assembly Room. Rev. Cutrum Biscoff will be moderator. Members of Mrs. William W. Smith's Circle will serve as tea hostesses.

The Women's Auxiliary of Trinity Episcopal Church will hold a luncheon meeting Tuesday at 12 in Pierce Hall. Rev. Dr. John W. Buehler will discuss "Why We Have a Prayer Book." Third meeting of the Women's Division of the Princeton Jewish Center will be held Wednesday evening at 8:30 at the Roger Sessions room, who will review current literature. Mrs. David Parnes is program chairman and Mrs. Irwin Glassman is in charge of refreshments.

BULLETIN NOTES

The Unionist Church of Princeton will sponsor a Mid-Jersey Religious Education Institute this Saturday from 10 to 4:30 at the Church School. The Rev. William

Obituaries

Miss Ida A. R. Wylie, 74, internationally known as an author, died November 4 in Princeton Hospital. She had been admitted only two days earlier.

Long a resident of the Princeton area, Miss Wylie had in recent years made her home on Travenna Farm, Orchard Road, Skillman, Born in Australia, she had lived here since the 1920's.

The author of many short stories, articles and novels, Miss Wylie was a writer of particular charm. A number of her works of fiction, among them "The Young in Heart," had been produced as motion pictures.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete as Town Topics went to press.

J. Lawrence Broderick, 54, of Fisher Place, Penns Neck, died October 28 in his New York City office following a heart attack. He had been executive director and psychologist at the YMCA vocational service center since 1919, after serving for eight years as executive secretary of the "Clash" branch. He was born in Pittsburgh, Penna.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Annette Stewart Broderick; two daughters, Mrs. Willard F. Hamilton and Miss Linda Broderick; his mother, Mrs. J. L. Broderick; a sister, Miss Madeline Broderick; and three grand-children. The funeral was held at Trinity Episcopal Church, with Dr. John H. Butler, rector, officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery, under direction of the Mother Funeral Home.

Ernest G. Haverstock, 31, of Lawrenceville, died October 26 in Beacon, N. Y., after a long illness. The son of Mrs. Earnest F. Haverstock and the late Mr. Haverstock, he was born in Trenton and was a member of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church. He served in the Navy during World War II.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by two brothers, Albert F. Haverstock of Lawrenceville, and Private Charles R. Haverstock, stationed at Fort Devens, Mass.; and a niece. The graveside service was held at the Lawrenceville Cemetery with the Rev. Herbert J. Anderson of the Covenant Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia, officiating. Arrangements were under the direction of the Mother Funeral Home.

Mrs. Lucinda A. Moore, 86, who lived with her daughter, Mrs. Frank L. Mitchell, on the Lawrenceville School campus, died November 1. In addition to her daughter, she is survived by a sister, Miss Viola Poland of East Liverpool, Ohio; two grandchildren.

Dr. John V. Butler, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, officiated at the funeral in Trenton. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Margaret S. Wallace, 8, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John H. Wallace of 186 Library Place, died November 1 after a long illness. She had been a student at Miss Fink's School.

<CARD OF THANKS>

From the family of the late John Broadway we wish to thank my friends, who were so kind during our time of bereavement.

She is also survived by two brothers, John D. Wallace of Hopewell and William C. Wallace of Staten Island, N. Y., and her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wallace Sr. of Louisville, Ky.

The funeral was held in Trinity Episcopal Church, with Dr. John V. Butler, rector, officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery under the direction of the Mother Funeral Home.

Miss Sadie May Threntall, 58, who lived with her sister, Mrs. Albert Fryer at 76 Spruce Street, died November 2 in Donnelly Memorial Hospital, Trenton, after a long illness. A former Trenton resident, she had worked in the cafeteria of the De Laval Steam Turbine Company of Trenton for 15 years. She retired last year.

Mrs. Fryer is also survived. The Rev. Francis C. Huntington, assistant at Trinity Episcopal Church, will officiate at the funeral this Thursday at 2 in the Kimble Funeral Home. Interment will be in Holcombe Riverview Cemetery, Lansburyville.

THE OUTGROWN SHOP

221 Witherspoon St.

For real bargains in nearly-new clothing of all kinds—from baby's onesuits to men's topcoats—try Princeton's one and only Outgrown Shop.

You may bring as well as buy. The Outgrown Shop accepts all children's, women's or men's clothing except for hats, shoes, accessories and long evening dresses. Skates are accepted. But all items MUST be dry-cleaned or freshly laundered, and in good condition.

No clothing is bought by the shop; the owner receives half the sale price of any item sold. The other half goes to the Benefit Fund for which the shop is operated by volunteers from the parents and friends of Miss Fine's School and Princeton Country Day School.

People With a Sense of Style Are Buying In

Princeton Manor

Children can romp in the spacious surrounding woods. Mother will delight in the convenience to shopping and schools, and Father will appreciate the solid construction of our homes as a wise capital gains hedge against inflation.

The Princeton Manor Construction Co. will build from your ideas, your architect's plans, or from over 200 designs in our files. Locally owned and managed, Co. Princeton Manor Construction Co. is currently building fifteen to twenty custom-built homes a year in Central New Jersey. Consult our list of building sites in the Princeton area. You may use your lot as all or part of the down payment on your new home. A few of our extra services are unusually favorable financing and free consultation with an interior decorator.

Visit our display Home open every day except Wednesday from noon 'til dusk
